Eleven-Year-Old Girl Wins the Hays Special

Enid Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Roberts, was the winner of the Purebred Holstein Bull-Calf, which the Hays Dairy Ltd. of Calgary offered as a special prize at the Didsbury Calf Club Fair for the best Holstein calf shown.

Enid, who is only 11 years of age, not only won the special prize, but was also placed third in the judging competition, a very creditable showing for a girl of her age.

WEDDINGS

BROOKER-VIOLETTE

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday evening, October 9th, 1935, at the United Church Manse, when Mrs. Hattie Violette, of Didsbury, was united in matrimony with Mr. Ragland Brooker, also of Didsbury. Mrs. E. Hall acted as matron-of-honor, and Rev. J. R. Geeson officiated.

Liberals Gain a Big Majority

Social Crediters Take 15 of 17 Alberta Seats

The biggest majority ever obtained in the House of Commons by any party was accorded the Liberals when they were swept into office at the elections on Monday. Liberals gained most of their support in the East, but the Conservatives lost their seats from east to west.

In Alberta the Social Crediters won a sweeping victory, taking 15 of the seventeen seats in the province and two Social Credit seats were also gained in Saskatchewan.

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, who retained his seat in West Calgary by a large majority, is the sole Conservative representative for Alberta, and J. A. McKinnon, who won in Edmonton West, is the lone Liberal representative.

In the Red Deer riding Eric Poole, S.C., won by a sweeping majority. Each of the other candidates will lose their deposits. The results were:

Arthur Stewart (C)	1612
George Clark (L)	1803
*Alfred Speakman (CCF) ..	1823
Eric Poole (SC) elected ...	7224

140 polls out of 157

The standing in the House now is Liberals 168; Conservative 41; SC 17; CCF 8; Independent-Lib 4; Independent-Con 1; Independent 1; UFO-Lab 1; Reconstruction 1; L-P 2; and doubtful 2.

All the leaders were returned. Bennett in Calgary West, McKenzie King in Prince Albert, Woodsworth in Winnipeg and Stevens who is the sole representative of his party returned, in Kootenay East.

By provinces the members elected were—

Prince Edward Island	4 liberals.
Nova Scotia	12 liberals.
New Brunswick	9 liberals, 1 conservative
Quebec	56 liberals, 5 conservatives and 4 independent-liberals.
Ontario	55 liberals, 26 conservatives and UFO-labor 1.
Manitoba	10 liberals, 2 CCF, 21-p. 2 conservatives
Saskatchewan	16 liberals, 1 conservative, 2 CCF, 2 SC
Alberta	1 liberal, 1 conservative, 15 SC
British Columbia	4 liberals, 5 conservatives, 4 CCF, 1 reconstruction, 1 independent.
Yukon territory	1 independent-conservative.

Bride-to-be Honored

Miss Dorothy Ranton entertained a number of friends to a pre-nuptial shower on Thursday last in honor of Miss Mollie Pearson who is to be married the latter part of this month.

A novel part of the proceeding was when a pedlar appeared at the door with suitcases loaded with beautiful and useful presents which were presented to the bride-to-be.

A very enjoyable afternoon was brought to a close with a delightful tea served by the hostess and her mother.

KATHERINE McLEAN

Mrs. Hugh McLean passed away at the Didsbury Hospital on Tuesday, October 15th, at the age of 52 years, after a long illness which she bore with patience and fortitude.

Katherine Cameron was born at Underwood, Ont., on May 18, 1883. She moved to Shoal Lake, Manitoba, in 1904 and was married at that place to Mr. Hugh McLean on July 21, 1909. Coming with her husband to his homestead 16 miles east of Didsbury, they have since resided on the farm.

She took her part in the social development of the community and until prevented by ill health took an active part in the various organizations. She was a charter member of the Lone Pine W.I. and also a member of the W.C.T.U. She joined the Baptist Church in Ontario but since coming here she attended the Evangelical Mission at Jutland. She was of a kindly disposition and during her life here she gained many friends by whom she will be greatly missed.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband and three daughters, Christina, of the staff of the Mental hospital at Ponoka, Sadie and Gertrude at home. Also one brother, Hector Cameron at Vista, Manitoba.

The funeral services will be held at the Evangelical Church at 2:30 p.m. this (Thursday) afternoon when Rev. H. J. Wood will conduct the services.

Mr. Emery, of the Printella Dress Co. wishes to announce that the Didsbury Ladies Shoppe has the sole agency for "Printella" dresses for Didsbury. (424c)

Marie Coates Wins Popularity Contests

The popularity contest which has been conducted by seven of the business men and the "Pioneer" came to a close on Saturday night and the final count of the votes was made on Tuesday evening. The tabulation of the votes was in the hands of J. W. Halton and the work was done in a very efficient manner.

The bedroom suite was won by Mrs. Marie Coates by a substantial majority, but second, third and fourth places were very close.

The following is a tabulation of the votes received by the first ten contestants:

Marie Coates	1,245,520
Marie Kershaw	779,065
Kathleen Pitt	776,865
Alice Ahlgrim	737,660
Enith Hunsperger	297,395
Bessie Tittsworth	242,470

Car Overtakes on Rosebud Hill

A car accident that might have been attended by far more serious consequences, took place at the top of the Rosebud hill north of town Saturday evening. The car, which was driven by Jim Anderson, with Miss Hunter and Ed Wallace, all of Carstairs, as passengers, left the road at the corner and ran into the bank, overturning three times. The driver and passengers were thrown through the roof of the car. They were taken to the Didsbury Hospital for treatment, where it was found that Miss Hunter and Anderson had received cuts and bruises and were able to return to their homes. Wallace was in an unconscious condition from concussion, and remained so for several days. He is now, however, much improved.

The car which was badly wrecked, was brought into the Adshad Garage.

Fruit and Jam Shower.

The Hospital Aid is sponsoring a fruit and jam shower for the hospital. Friends and members who desire to help in this way will please take their gifts of fruit and jam to the hospital during Thanksgiving week.

The World In Danger

As week succeeds week the possibilities of war between Italy and Ethiopia grow nearer to certitude and the situation becomes fraught with alarming menace, not merely to the two countries involved but to other countries and possibly the whole civilized world.

With the Italian representatives rejecting, one after another, proposals which are being made almost daily by committees of the League of Nations and interested powers in the hope of averting an outbreak of hostilities, and Emperor Haile Sellassie refusing to accept any compromise which would result in the surrender of the independence of his kingdom, the situation becomes more and more gloomy, and the gloom deepens with the active preparations which are being prosecuted by Mussolini and the belligerence with which he is whipping his countrymen into a warlike attitude.

Statesmen of the leading nations of the world and international authorities appear to be in complete accord with the general consensus of world opinion that such a conflict would not be confined to Italy and Ethiopia, but that other nations would be dragged into the fray and that it is even likely to lead to a general conflagration which would result in misery and suffering to millions and loss of life and property on an even greater scale than the Great War of 1914-18.

Indeed, there are authorities who see in the present situation a potential destruction of civilization itself. This view is supported by the Committee on International Law of the Canadian Bar Association, which in a report to the Canadian Bar Association convention in Winnipeg recently spoke of "the consequences to the world and Canada of an actual resort to arms" as probably "catastrophic in the sense that it may include the destruction or profound modification of many of the institutions upon which civilization is based."

Again in the same report, the committee dealt with the conduct of Italy as indicating that government's unwillingness to accept decisions of the Council of the League of Nations, of which she is a member, in the following words:

"If that attitude persists the world may be faced with a complete breakdown of the system of public international order which was supposed to have been permanently established by the sacrifices of the years 1914 to 1918.

"The question is whether or not the peoples of the world will permit this by failure to agree on united action or whether, by united action, they will, as they undoubtedly can, insist upon the observance of the public law upon which the continuance of our present civilization may depend."

The statement that the peoples of the world can avoid this catastrophe by united action refers to the powers which the member countries of the League vested in themselves when they approved Article 16 of the covenants, to which all members have subscribed, agreeing to impose financial and economic sanctions as a punitive measure against any member who breaks the covenants and commits an act of aggression against any other country.

In view of the menace of the situation the importance of these powers become paramount. They are contained in the first and third paragraphs of Article 16 and read as follows:

"1. Should any Member of the League resort to war in disregard of its covenants under Articles 12, 13 and 15, it shall, ipso facto, be deemed to have committed an act of war against all other members of the League, which hereby undertake immediately to subject it to the severance of all trade relations, the prohibition of all intercourse between their nationals and nationals of the covenant-breaking State, and the prevention of all financial, commercial or personal intercourse between the nationals of the covenant-breaking State and the nationals of any other State, whether a Member of the League or not."

"3. The Members of the League agree, further, that they will mutually support one another in the financial and economic measures which are taken under this Article, in order to minimize the loss and inconvenience resulting from the above measures, and that they will mutually support one another in resisting any special measures aimed at one of their number by the covenant-breaking State, and that they will take the necessary steps to afford passage through territory to the forces of any Members of the League which are co-operating to protect the covenants of the League."

It is not perhaps generally known that the onus of deciding whether an act of aggression or incident is to be construed as "an act of war" within the meaning of the covenants is left with each individual member to decide. A clause was drafted some years ago vesting the decision with the Council but this has never been ratified by the League.

However, once a member has decided that some act or incident is an "act of war" it has no alternative, under the covenants, but to proceed with the measures outlined in Article 16. Otherwise, that country has itself violated the covenants.

With the onus of interpretation of an "act of war" left upon each individual member, the importance of the general public being fully posted on events as they transpire, can readily be understood, as in the final analysis, it is the people of each country involved who are in the position by their influence, to decide what part their country shall play in the efforts to avert a major catastrophe.

New Variety Of Dahlia

A Siamese-twin dahlia, which may be the forerunner of a new variety of this autumn flower, was displayed at Victoria recently. The freak bloom was grown by Mrs. W. G. Gordon of Sooke, B.C. It is two flowers joined together at the calyx. The dahlia is of the pompom variety and the back-to-back flowers almost form a solid ball of pink petals. Plant experts termed it a queer aberration of nature.

A Great Astronomer

Dr. Anna Cannon Has Classified Over 400,000 Stars

That astronomy is not so exact a science that the average man would not be interested were information readily available, is the opinion of Dr. Anna J. Cannon, of Harvard, who was in Toronto as a delegate to the American Astronomical Society's convention.

For 50 years Dr. Cannon has been gazing through telescopes and the mystery of the heavens has as great a thrill for her as ever. Dr. Cannon is the most famous woman astronomer in the world, and she has shared with Madame Curie of France and others equally famous the honor of receiving the Ellet Richards' prize for outstanding work by women in research.

She was the last recipient of the prize, which was founded to encourage women to study science. But because it was felt women no longer needed encouragement to enter, it was discontinued. Dr. Cannon has continued it, however, for women in astronomy. It is called after her now and it goes to women astronomers.

The prize was given Dr. Cannon for classification of stars according to their spectra. She has classified over 400,000. Harvard is now a mecca for astronomers all over the world who seek astronomical observations of spectra.

An Intricate Problem

Joining Of Steel Plates On Liner Queen Mary Requires Study

Construction of the new Cunard White Star super liner Queen Mary has been complicated by reason of the fact that no two of her steel plates are exactly the same, according to reports from the shipyard at Clydebank. Most of the plates are curved, and many of them are more than 26 feet long, 6 feet wide and more than an inch thick. Few are really flat.

The joining of the plate so that each rivet hole pairs exactly with the corresponding hole is an intricate problem, and more than 10,000,000 such pairs of holes must be made. Each plate must overlap at least six others adjoining it, creating a problem of arrangement that has required the study of a large engineering staff.

A large half-model of the ship has been laid out on a loft floor at the shipyard, furnishing an accurate picture of the successive rows of plates and a laboratory for the study of the details of construction which are carried out on a larger scale on the ship itself.—New York Times.

Greatest Russian Scientist

Has Done Much To Extend Study Of Nervous System

Both Tsarist and Bolshevik Governments have delighted to honor the great Russian scientist, Prof. Ivan Pavlov, says the News of the World. No one living has done more to extend the study of the nervous system of men and animals, and particularly knowledge of the connection between brain and digestion. He was awarded the Nobel Prize for this work as long ago as 1904. Last year, when he was 85, the Soviet Government spent £10,000 on equipping a laboratory for him. It now pays the old man, who was the son of a poor village priest, £2,000 a year, and, according to H. G. Wells, he is the only man who dare answer Stalin back.

Bird Was Artistic

At Egginton Rectory, Derbyshire, a small stream flows through the garden; on the bank among the reeds and irises a moorhen built her nest; morning after morning the edge of this was carefully decorated with sprays of buttercups gathered from the adjoining meadow.

To help teach children music a resident of Portland, Ore., has invented a metal plate painted with a staff to which magnet backed paper notes can be fastened.

Huge Cliff Demolished

Blasting In Scotland Dislodges Million Tons Of Granite

One of the greatest blasting operations in Scotland was successful recently when a granite cliff 500 feet high and stretching 400 feet across the face of Ben Dhurnich, near Bonawe, was "demolished" by gunpowder. A signal was flagged from a tiny island in Loch Etive. At this a man crouching on the mainland, under a protective rock ledge in a forest 500 yards away, pushed down the lever of a dynamo, and the cliff tumbled into a myriad fragments. Powder fumes and granite dust rose in a cloud 2,000 feet high. In that second there was crowning triumph for men who had planned for the last four years to destroy the cliff, and by the touch of a lever there had been gained for industry 1,000,000 tons of granite. The success of the blasting, which cost $20,000 to carry out, means that 400 quarrymen will be given work for six years.

Dropped From The Sky

Massed Landing Of Troops Practiced In Military Manoeuvres

Soviet military strategists dropped an army from the sky recently as they practiced their latest war manoeuvres—mass landing of fully-equipped troops with parachutes. Bearing rifles and sub-machine guns, the jumpers landed behind "enemy" lines, formed ranks quickly and bore down upon an opposing airdrome.

Whole regiments, landing from the skies, succeeded in capturing the airdrome, but later came to theoretical grief. When they used the airdrome as a base from which to advance overland to attack the main "enemy" forces from the rear, they were met by a quickly mobilized defence force which, with the aid of tanks and armored trains, "annihilated" them.

FASHION FANCIES

LITTLE DAUGHTER FOLLOWS "SUIT" BECAUSE MUMMY HAS DECIDED IT'S A SUIT SEASON

By Ellen Worth

Here she is showing just how attractive and practical her new model can be.

Originally it was carried out in lightweight woolen in red and brown mixture. The boxy jacket was plain brown wool. The jacket has enough warmth for fall days. And another nice thing about it is that it gives extra warmth for winter days.

Wool jersey dress with the jacket of velveteen is another attractive scheme.

Style No. 675 is designed for sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 1/2 yards of 39-inch material with 1 yard of 5 1/2-inch ribbon for dress and 1 1/2 yards of 39-inch material for jacket.

Land Has Disappeared

No Trace Can Be Found Of Property In Esquimalt

H. Seller of San Francisco was surprised recently to find a lot on which he had been paying taxes for over 50 years had disappeared.

Seller went to Victoria, B.C., to secure a title of a piece of property in Esquimalt, left to him by his father. He visited the land registry office and real estate operators both there and in Esquimalt, but could find no trace of the property.

His father came to the coast about 60 years ago, and, becoming interested in Victoria real estate, purchased the land which he left to his son on his death. The son was advised to hold the property as a dry-dock was to be built at Esquimalt which would increase its value. He let the land go at a tax sale and bought it back again.

The only explanation he can give now is that the property must be under water. It is said the matter was settled by the payment by the municipality of the amount paid for the land by Sellers at the tax sale.

Great Progress Made In Agricultural Development In The Prairie Provinces

Great progress in agricultural development has been witnessed in the Prairie Provinces of Canada during the last 35 years. During the years 1901 to 1931 the area of occupied farm land in the prairie region increased from 15 million acres to 110 million acres, or more than seven-fold. In 1901 the Prairie Provinces contained 24.3 per cent. of the total occupied farm acreage in the Dominion and by 1931 this acreage had increased to 67.3 per cent. of the total. In the same period the improved farm acreage increased from 18.5 per cent. to 69.8 per cent. and the field crop acreage from 18.2 per cent. to 69.1 per cent. The decade 1901 to 1911 witnessed the greatest expansion, due to the rush of homesteaders into Saskatchewan and Alberta. Occupied farm land increased from 15 million acres to over 57 million acres. Of the improved land in the Prairie Provinces in 1931, 67 per cent. was in field crops.

Farming in the Prairie Provinces comprises four more-or-less distinct types—wheat growing, mixed farming, dairying (usually associated with mixed farming), and ranching. Wheat growing predominates in southwestern and central Alberta, throughout the whole of Saskatchewan except the northern and eastern fringe and the dry belt, and in southern Manitoba, although in the latter area, the proportion of other cereals and forage crops is growing rapidly. Mixed farming is found in northern and western Alberta and in the northern and eastern parts of both Saskatchewan and Manitoba—in other words over practically the whole of the park belt. Mixed farming is also the dominant type in the irrigated districts. The greatest development in dairying has occurred in eastern Manitoba, northeastern Saskatchewan and northwestern Alberta. Ranching is practically confined to the dry area in southwestern Saskatchewan and southeastern Alberta and to a strip of land extending from the international boundary northward along the foothills to beyond Calgary.

The Press Predominates

News Released Over Radio Only Given In Briefest Form

Winged-words carried on the current of electrical impulse and destined for the ear of the world flash out from Daventry, England, from Radio City, New York, or from a local radio station, giving to you the "news of the world."

News of the world, but strangely enough, nought but a question-provoking what, when, and where is radio permitted to release to the listener-in. Every newscast given voice over the air is released in briefest form by news-gathering agencies with contact maintained with remotest reaches of the world as well as with the great metropolitan centres. Radio, in respect to news would be inarticulate save for the courtesy of the press. Powerless to capitalize on any news presentation and without the presses world-wide contact with the very pulsebeat of the world, radio could but parrot the news of yesterday. Punctuating every statement made by radio with regard to news is a question—a puzzling lack of the definite. Turn then to your newspaper, truly giving to you the news of the world.—Fort Erie Times-Review.

Watch Keeps Good Time

Present Owner Claims It Is 253 Years Old

An ancient watch is owned by Mr. Clement Toovey, a 79-year-old baker of Whielden Street, Amersham. He uses a watch that is 253 years old. It is believed to be the only one of its kind in the world. It is solid gold, and is only slightly larger in circumference than a half-crown. The watch originally belonged to his great-great-grandfather, and has been handed down from one member of the family to the other. Mr. Toovey has used it regularly for 45 years, during which time he has only spent 2d on it when a hand worked loose.

Peace For Sleepers

Movement To Do Away With Noise From Auto Horns

Sleepers are getting some "breaks." For the movement to hush auto horns is spreading on a world-wide basis. Rome, Paris, Berlin, London, Florence, Naples are among European cities that have taken steps to dampen the ardor of auto horn tooters. In Madrid a bull may bellow at his heart's content, but so much as a "peep-peep" from a motorist may mean trouble.

New York is in the midst of an anti-noise drive. Chicago authorities swung into action under a new Illinois law which gives policemen the right to judge whether a motorist is making an undue disturbance.

The Toronto board of control has prohibited auto horn honking between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Ottawa civic officials countered Toronto's claim to be the first Canadian city warring on auto-honking law by digging into its archives and finding it had an edict to hush noisy motorists before there were any.

City Clerk Norman Lett discovered a 45-year-old bylaw forbidding anyone at night to "blow any horn, toot and whistle, shout in the public streets or otherwise make noises calculated to disturb inhabitants."

Had Many Defenders

Charm Of Garibaldi Made Him Hero Of Italy

Many are the stories told of the courage and charm of Garibaldi, Italy's hero. On one occasion, when the King was exerting every effort to have him captured, he left Italy, going across the border into France. Sitting alone in an inn one night, he was recognized by one of the patrons, who informed his companions of his identity and also of the fact that there was a heavy price on his head. The men, more than a score in number, surrounded Garibaldi and announced their intention to return him to Italy. If they had expected Garibaldi to appeal to them for mercy they must have been disappointed. He genially suggested that they sit down and partake of his hospitality before calling the soldiers. This they willingly did. Garibaldi began telling them of his cause, and of his adventures and escapades. Their interest soon turned to enthusiasm, then to devoted friendship. Meantime the landlord, fearing trouble in his inn, had sent for soldiers. When they arrived they found Garibaldi surrounded by defenders who repulsed the soldiers. His charm had won them over completely.

Penny Theatre Has Been Opened In Hamburg, Germany

A theatre has been opened at Hamburg in which every seat, including cloakroom and programme charges, costs a penny. It is called the "Hamburg Stage". In order to make this possible the manager, actors, stage hands, programme sellers and box office girls have collaborated in painting and arranging the scenery and making the costumes. Many unemployed actors are being given work at the theatre.

T. K. Jackson, of Fulford Harbor, B.C., is the owner of a remarkable dog, "Tito", a small black canine with a predominant strain of Labrador in him, started a fishing career about five years ago. Seeing some herring in shallow water he grabbed one of them. Seeming to enjoy the sport he went back for more. Now "Tito" goes after perch and will swim out into deep water to dive for them. He takes only the palatable fish to his master.

Wheat Testing

U.S. Test Of Thirteen Varieties Of Bread Made From Various Grades Of Wheat

United States Secretary of Agriculture Wallace invited reporters to become bread-tasters at his press conference in Washington.

He explained that agriculture department chemists had baked 13 loaves of bread from as many varieties of wheat, ranging in weight from 59 to 42 pounds per bushel, and in price from 55 cents to $1.30. The object, Wallace said, was to determine the difference in taste in breads baked from different qualities of wheat.

You've noticed that I've picked some holes here and there," Wallace added, indicating bread slices on a table, but he asserted he could tell little differences between the loaves. Wallace said the trade was "talking about the millers importing 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels of hard spring wheat from Canada" to meet demands for this quality. He asserted the United States has sufficient wheat, but that rust had caused a big loss in hard spring wheat which he said produces the finest quality of flour.

Makes Visitors Welcome

Lord Ritchie Is Popular Chairman Of Port Of London Authority

The Port of London Authority must be one of the busiest institutions in the world, not least in respect of its reception of visitors. This is largely due to the hospitality of its chairman, Lord Ritchie of Dundee, who never misses an opportunity to show sight-seers from all over the world that they are welcome. He has just completed one of his heaviest months, but his pleasure in entertaining visitors seems inexhaustible.

MEMORIES OF HOME

Pictures, such as this one, are not difficult to make so let your camera furnish you with "Memory Insurance."

Do you remember "way back when grandmother's "parlor" was furnished with the very latest horse-hair furniture, the lovely round "centre table" with its marble top, the huge portraits with their deep, heavy gilded frames and the always present "what-not" with its assorted display of "bric-a-brac"? Wouldn't you like to have a picture of it to help recall fond memories of days gone by?

Believe it or not but it will not be many years until you will be trying to picture in your mind some of the furniture and furnishings you had in your home when you were a child or perhaps when you were first married. Interior snapshots will serve as "memory insurance."

Don't put off taking these pictures any longer for making them is not at all difficult; in fact you will enjoy it. Here are a few pointers that may help you in making your first shots.

If you take your interior pictures in the daytime the chances are that you will have to take a time exposure unless your camera is equipped with a very fast lens, say f.3.5 or faster. If a time exposure is necessary you will have to use a tripod or else place the camera on some solid support such as a table. Even with an f.3.5 lens you should have some substantial support for your camera for you will probably find it necessary to take your shot at 1/5 or 1/10 of a second, and at speeds slower than 1/25 of a second it is extremely difficult to hold the camera steady. Any movement of the camera will cause a blurred picture.

The secret of success in indoor pictures lies in controlling the light reaching the various parts of the

Fighting The Soil

Rehabilitating Farms Is One Of Dr. Archibald's Jobs

From his office in Ottawa Dr. E. S. Archibald is supervising the rehabilitation of western Canadian farms hit in the past few years by soil drifting and drought. It's a big task, but one which Dr. Archibald is capable of handling, for co-ordinating many enterprises is one of his specialties. When not busy rehabilitating farms he looks after the direction of the more than a score of experimental farms operated by the Dominion from coast to coast.

His additional work came about with the recent creation of a farm rehabilitation committee, and because of his knowledge and executive ability he was picked as chairman. Tree planting to form shelter belts for farms where the soil is so loose it blows away in wind storms; new method of farming which will allow the soil to stay put and not hinder the grain or livestock crop; the use of grasses to hold the soil together; and ways and means to keep water on farms in areas where it does not rain too frequently—these are some of the things which occupy Dr. Archibald's attention to-day.—Toronto Star Weekly.

A newly-married couple left the church on a motor-cycle, the bride on the pillion. A cynical spectator remarked that this would probably be the last time she took a back seat.

Behind the astounding record of 301.337 miles an hour made over a measured mile by Sir Malcolm Campbell lie a long experience in driving racing cars, superb courage and skill and 12 years of determination and scientific study. No mere accident is his performance. Nor is the Bluebird quite the same creature at which we marvelled when she began to break records in 1927. She is an evolution. Engineers and physicists have refined her lines, increased her engine power, given her stabilizers and ballast to hold her down, provided her with motor-controlled brakes, equipped her with strange instruments and devices and thus made of her the most remarkable organism that ever ran on wheels. For all her six tons she is a frail thing. Let her run at five miles a minute for only 15 consecutive minutes and she would be completely paralyzed. So tender are her tires that they are useless after a trial run or two—chemically disintegrated by heat. At the 2,500 revolutions a minute that they were probably making, their centrifugal force was enough to keep them distended without any air—also enough to fling off their treads like so much mud had they been much heavier. Perhaps Sir Malcolm's miraculous escape from death when one of them blew out may be attributed partly to this mechanical good fortune, partly to his rare presence of mind.

Out of the racing car of yesterday came the fast stock car of to-day. Speeds of 60 and 70 miles an hour on the open road are now a commonplace—speeds at which we gasped when they were made on the track by daredevils only 30 years ago. What of to-morrow? Does the new record mean that we, too, shall some day flash across the landscape at 100 and possibly 200 miles an hour?

The record made in Utah speaks for itself on these points. First of all rises the question of the road. The faster the vehicle, the straighter and smoother must it be. Once the sands of Florida were regarded as nearly ideal. Now their pebbles and shells, not to mention their limited length, have made it necessary to transfer trails at very high speed to the Bonneville Salt Flats of Utah. Is it likely that we shall have highways as mathematically straight as surveyors can make them for hundreds of miles and of a flatness that would match that of a billiard table and of an unprecedented width?

And then the car itself. A huge tail to keep us on the ground, a wind gauge or two on which a watchful eye must be kept, a mass of lead on which we must sit lest we soar off like birds, tires even sturdier than those now made for racing, since they must run for days instead of minutes; engines of a power unheard of in cars produced in large quantities—pile up the conditions in the light of what Sir Malcolm teaches us and the prospect of bowling along at speeds much higher than those that now seem irritatingly slow seems dubious indeed.—New York Times.

King George Suits Himself

Does Not Always Wear Kilt When Visiting Scotland

King George does not keep rigidly to the rule which King Edward enforced when the Court was in Scotland of wearing the Scottish dress whenever he left the Castle. The King wears the kilt of Royal Stuart tartan, on arrival at Ballater, but generally he wears knickerbockers and stockings. They are, in fact, his favorite dress. With them he wears a felt Homburg hat. The Princes emulate the King in this observance of dress. The Queen always wears a ribbon of tartans when abroad in Scotland.

Protest has been made by lovers of Dickens' novels against the destruction for road purposes of the cottage in Petersham, Surrey, where he wrote "David Copperfield."

Gas Tank Burns on Highway.

An International truck and gas tank caught fire on the highway north of town near the Morgan place about 5 o'clock on Wednesday morning and was totally destroyed. The driver jumped from the flaming vehicle and escaped injury.

A telephone pole was burned down and communication on the main trunk line was held up for some time.

The Canadian Wheat Board.

PARTICIPATION CERTIFICATES

Participation certificates issued to producers who deliver their wheat to the Canadian Wheat Board should be retained in the possession of the producer, says a statement issued from the board headquarters last Thursday.

Several farmers have already forwarded their certificates to the Board offices, and the Board again draws the attention of growers to the printed remarks on the certificates which instruct producers to preserve these certificates carefully for surrender to the Board when required.

When it becomes necessary for producers to surrender their certificates to the Board, instructions to that effect will be issued by the Board. Meantime, all growers holding these certificates should carefully preserve and retain them in their own possession.

AT THREE HILLS: Up to Tuesday night of last week 635,000 bushels of new wheat had been marketed, and since September 19 a total of 224 cars had been shipped out. The average yield has been 35-40 bushels to the acre, and the grade 2 and 3.

Tale of Heroic Achievement Marks C. P. R.'s 50th Anniversary

Crailachie Day, November 7, next marks the fiftieth anniversary of the driving of the last spike, final completion of the Canadian Pacific line from Montreal to Vancouver and the final consummation of Canadian Confederation. Arrangements are now being made for its fitting celebration so that Canadian Pacific people and the country in general may be reminded of the part this Company has played in national development.

It is particularly fitting that the Company's jubilee year should be marked by the appearance of an important book bearing on its history and the new volume by J. Murray Gibbon, whose picture is shown above, will be the more welcome on that account. It is entitled "Steel of Empire" and apart from its special interest to Canadian Pacific people as a most complete and interesting history of their own Company, it is so comprehensive and fascinating a tale of the discovery and development of Canada that it will make a strong appeal to all who are interested in this country. It is published by the Bobbs Merrill Company in the United States and by McClelland & Stewart in Canada and appears as an extremely handsome volume. Sixteen full colour illustrations and over two hundred in black and white help carry the interest throughout, aided by a series of explanatory maps. It sells at $3.50 a copy. Despite its wide range of information and the vast amount of reading and research that clearly has gone into its making, it is full of human interest and is an absorbing record of the human desires and ambitions that have become the foundation stones of Canadian nationality.

History of the Canadian Pacific as it may be, it is a fascinating and important book long before the author gets around to that great institution. The early history of transportation by trail and canoe is told with a wealth of chatty incident and in the light readable style that one would expect from this accomplished author.

Mr. Gibbon very largely ignores the common-place history book stories of early settlement and lays before us new incidents and hitherto neglected movements that led to the exploration and final conquering of the Canadian wilderness. Thus, he recalls that in the time of Queen Anne the new demand for tea and the tremendous vogue for Chinese porcelain and for Chinese house decorations turned merchant eyes towards the Orient and sharpened the desire to find the North West passage. In a large sense the book is the story of the search for and the ultimate building of a new road to the Pacific. The fur trade, gold discoveries and ultimately the opening up of the country as a land for settlement each played their big part in the development of Canada, but it was the search for the road to the "East" that drew adventurous pioneer souls forward until Canada had become a Dominion and the Canadian Pacific Railway had been built.

Canadian Legion Sponsors Picture

"Lest We Forget," the most outstanding drama of the Great War ever put on the screen, is being sponsored by the local branch of the Canadian Legion at the Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday.

"Lest We Forget" is Canada's own war memorial, compiled and produced through the joint sponsorship of the Canadian government and the Canadian Legion.

It is an epic of heroism, self-sacrifice, and almost incredible endurance. It is war minus its brass buttons and false glamor.

The picture does not glorify war.
What glory in the spectacle of shattered fragments that once were men filling the trenches on Vimy?
What glamor in the torn remnants of manhood staggering back from the mass massacre at Cambrai?
Canada's warrior sons will relive those four terrible years once more as the all-seeing eyes of the official army cameras bridge the gap of a quarter-century.

"Lest We Forget" successfully compresses within its limited scope the story not only of Canada and Canadian achievement in the war, but of the Great War itself. A Canadian picture, compiled for Canadian eyes, its sequences bring out Canadian effort, but also do full justice to others. There is no trace of hostility or bitterness in the narrative which explains the scenes; it merely identifies them as to personnel, time, and place, with a brief, simple, explanatory record.

A number of members of the Legion have already seen the picture and they recommend it as one of the greatest pictures of that period.

The local branch of the Legion will be given a percentage of the ticket sale and tickets can be obtained from the members

Aberhart Announces Tentative Date for Session

The tentative date for the opening of the first session of Alberta's new legislature has been set for next February 6, it was announced by Premier Aberhart last Thursday.

By-elections would be held in Athabasca and Okotoks-High River provincial constituencies on November 14, to provide seats in the legislature for Hon. C. C. Ross, minister of lands and mines, and himself, it was also announced by the premier.

Opening Dates for Schools of Agriculture

Schools of Agriculture at Olds and Vermilion will operate this winter for the usual five months' course of instruction in agriculture and home economics, according to announcement made by Hon. W. N. Chant, minister of agriculture.

Opening date for the Olds school will be October 22, and for Vermilion a week later, October 29.

Applications for registration for the new term have been more numerous than at first anticipated, states the minister, and the expectation now is that the opening dates will see a very satisfactory attendance at both schools. Last term the enrolment at Olds was 185 and that at Vermilion 165. Territory allotted to the Vermilion school is that portion of the province north of, and including, the Wetaskiwin-Camrose line of the CPR, while the portion of the province south of that line is allotted to the Olds school.

Any farmer, whether he wishes to sell his grain outright or through the Canadian Wheat Board, can do so at any line elevator.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

For the first time in the history of the Bombay high court, a microphone and amplifier has been put in use in one of the chambers.

Field Marshal Lord Allenby, who celebrated his 74th birthday on St. George's Day, April 23, has an aviary stocked with many varieties of foreign finches.

A woman who cashed a cheque in an Edmonton bank wasn't taking any chances. The cheque read: "Pay to Mrs. —, 15 'Canadian dollars'". She got them.

Father John Louis Stacey, 38, died at the wheel of his car in Edmonton as he drove to a city hospital to get treatment for a heart ailment. The car crashed into another parked machine.

Indicative of the rapid mechanization of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, not one saddle horse is stabled in the force's barracks at MacLeod, Alta. All animals formerly kept at southern Alberta detachments have been disposed of.

A few weeks ago Joseph Eckert, 15, collided with a buggy while riding his bicycle in Stratford, Ont. The shaft of the buggy went clear through the boy's body, an inch below the heart. Now he is up and around again almost as well as ever.

Cane Sugar Growers Worried

Afraid Beet Cultivation In United Kingdom Will Run Industry

With the United Kingdom Government subsidizing beet sugar at home, the British West Indies and British Guiana are wondering what is to become of their cane sugar industries—already depressed by low prices.

Barbados, whose only possible crop for commercial purposes is cane, is particularly anxious to ascertain how far the Imperial Government intends to go with the cultivation of beets for sugar.

This island of 106,270 acres has 100,000 acres under cultivation, and of a population of 180,000 about 120,000 colored people look to the sugar cane plantations for employment.

Nearly all the planters are now in debt to the banks and are growing cane only in the hope of better times, and in order to support the enormous working population.

Should they be obliged to abandon sugar, the island would be penniless, it is said. There would be no question of dole, because all the colony's taxes come from the planters, and with their ruin the chief source of revenue would be shut off.

Some of the other islands with different vegetation have a better outlook. Grenada, for example, is making up for sugar losses by devoting much land to cultivation of other crops, and has been successful this year with bananas grown under a supply contract for a Canadian company.

Jasper-Edmonton Highway

Believe Arrangements Made To Ensure Construction

Climaxing a 15-year fight, construction of a fully-standard, all-weather highway from Edmonton to Jasper appears assured at last, according to an announcement by acting Premier Manning that satisfactory arrangements for taking over the abandoned railway grade section of the highway had been completed and sufficient funds secured to guarantee the necessary construction, which will consist mainly of widening the grade.

Older than Rome's famous roads, was a road built by Assyrian King Sargon the Second to link Nineveh with another town.

AT HISTORIC CAIRN

—Canadian Pacific Photo.

Sir Edward Beatty, G.B.E., chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is shown here with little Joyce Austin, daughter of W. T. Austin, section foreman at Craigellachie, B.C., following Sir Edward's recent visit to the Craigellachie cairn which marks the spot where Lord Strathcona on November 7, 1885, drove the last spike completing the Canadian Pacific Railway from ocean to ocean. On behalf of Craigellachie's handful of citizens Miss Austin presented the C.P.R. president with a bouquet of home grown flowers, a tribute which Sir Edward acknowledged with a hearty handshake. Sir Edward visited the memorial cairn in the 50th anniversary year of C.P.R. history as it will be 50 years on November 7 since Lord Strathcona drove the momentous spike.

Value Of Grain Crop

Western Crop Estimated Value Placed At $241,381,000

Western Canada's grain this year will be worth more than at any time since 1931, according to an estimate by the Winnipeg Free Press.

Based on present prices, says the estimate, the total 1935 grain crop will bring $241,381,000. The paper, using its own 274,764,000-bushel estimate, says wheat will be worth $156,615,000 at the Fort William figure of 74 cents a bushel (price for average minimum grade) less 17 cents average haul.

Thus, says the paper, the total 1935 crop is $82,186,000 more valuable than the 1931 crop, $159,195,000; $82,857,000 more valuable than 1932, $158,524,000; $71,338,000 more valuable than 1933, $170,043,000; $18,326,000 more valuable than 1934 $223,055,000.

Stratosphere Flights

Famous Flyer Says This Method Is Not Practical

Col. Roscoe Turner, America's dashing cavalier of the air who has formed the habit of roaring across the continent in a few minutes over 10 hours, on a visit to Toronto, said stratosphere flying was a "practical impossibility."

"When you get up in the thin air, have to supercharge your motors and make the cabins air-tight, the cost becomes prohibitive," Turner said. "The world will never see commercial flying in the stratosphere. A medium will be established half way between the stratosphere and the present air lanes where commercial planes can operate most economically."

Monument To Horse

A horse's monument erected to the "Unknown War Horse" has been unveiled in the courtyard of the Francis Joseph Cavalry Barracks in Budapest, Hungary. The monument was erected on the initiative of General Stephen Horthy. After the unveiling ceremony the horses of the Regiment of Hussars quartered in the barracks filed past the statue, led by their riders.

Flies With Clipped Wings

Homing Pigeon Proves They Always Return If Possible

One thing about a Homing pigeon is that it will come home to roost if that is at all possible. Witness the case of one just restored to its Montreal owner by Canadian National Express with the valued co-operation of Mrs. Elizabeth Bruce, of Huntingdon, Que. A few days ago an obviously exhausted pigeon fluttered to earth at Huntingdon and Mrs. Bruce, knowing that the Express Company sometimes handled these flyers, notified C. E. Bellerose, General Manager of the Express Company, of the fact, giving the identification marks on the pigeon's leg band. By these numbers Mr. Bellerose located the owner, M. Delorme, Jr., of 2818 Masson street, Montreal, to whom the bird was safely returned. When captured the bird's wings were found to have been recently clipped. Mr. Delorme recognized the pigeon as one released at Medonte, Ont., about 300 miles from Montreal. Not having reached home in reasonable time it had been given up as lost. Now the apparent explanation is that some person in Ontario captured the bird and clipped its wings. When the flight feathers had grown out again sufficiently, however, the bird had taken wing and reached Huntingdon before it became exhausted in its attempt to reach home.

These Frogs Are Different

Species Shown In New York Skip Tadpole Stage

Three young frogs no larger than houseflies, hatched in the biology laboratories of the American Museum of Natural History, New York, were on exhibition along with several hundred other amphibians, reptiles and fish at the annual show of the Aquarium Society.

Visitors rubbed their eyes when the three frogs, known scientifically as Eleutherodactylus johnsoni, hopped onto a dime, leaving room for six or eight more.

Dr. G. Kingsley Noble, curator of the museum's department of experimental biology, explained smallness was not their only unusual characteristic. They were one of the few species of frogs, he said, which had no tadpole stage, the young being ready for business as soon as they popped out of the egg.

It developed some time back in their dim past, they had a tadpole stage but eventually found themselves in a pretty pickle with hardly enough water handy for a tadpole to swim in. Apparently resourceful amphibians, they just eliminated the tadpole stage and started laying their eggs on land. Dr. Noble said it probably took a good many thousand years but they did it.

Turn Trains Into Arsenals

Japan Takes Extra Precautions To Cope With Bandits

To cope with bandits, who have been attacking trains on the Hsinking-Tumen line, the Mukden Railway Administrative Bureau will protect passengers and crews. According to plans just formulated, the number of Japanese and Manchukuo railway police on the line will immediately be equipped with machine guns, hand grenades and wireless apparatus. Also, a special rear engine will follow each train to guard it against attacks from the rear. Carrier pigeons and police dogs will also be used on the line to facilitate communication between stations.

New Place To Go

Stratosphere May Be Popular Honey-moon Resort Some Day

"It is almost safe to prophesy that our children's children will spend their honeymoons in the stratosphere or their summer holidays in the ozonosphere." This was declared by Colonel E. B. Mackintosh, director of the South Kensington (England) Science Museum while receiving the gondola of the balloon in which Professor Piccard made his second historic ascent into the stratosphere. The balloon, which has been presented to the museum, left Dübendorf Aerodrome, near Zurich, and after a flight of 12 hours landed on Lake Garda. The maximum height reached was about ten and a half miles.

Africa's Oldest Empire

History Of Abyssinia Ranges Over Thousands Of Years

Harold J. Shephstone, F.R.G.S., wrote the following article for the Edinburgh Scotsman:

Whatever may be the fate of Abyssinia as a result of the present dispute between this age-old African Empire and Italy, some reference to this remarkable land, her history, the strange mentality of her people, and their quaint customs and ways may prove of timely interest.

Her history is an ancient story of fact, legend, and tradition, ranging over thousands of years. On one occasion her present ruler, Emperor Haile Selassie, prepared for a friend of mine a list of her rulers. It contained the names of 312 sovereigns and extended back over 6,300 years, to 4,530 B.C., or the 97th year of the creation of the world, according to Abyssinian computation. Included in this list were Solomon and the Queen of Sheba, from whose son, Menelik, the ruling house claim direct descent, which would give them a pedigree of the somewhat unusual length of 3,000 years.

Despite her long history Abyssinia, shut off from the rest of the world by towering mountains and barren deserts—"the world forgetting, by the world forgot"—her people have maintained an inviolability almost Tibetan in its character. As a result the mentality of her people and the condition of most of the country have remained virtually unchanged during the passage of centuries. They live much as they did two thousand years ago.

True, Addis Ababa, the capital is now connected with the outside world by a railway—a single line which runs between it and Djibouti, the port of French Somaliland. This is the only means of communication in a country about twice the size of Germany, or some 350,000 square miles in extent. The trains only run by day, out of respect to the proclivities of the Danakil tribes, who commandeer the rails for spearheads and the copper telegraph wire for bangles. In the wet season, moreover, travellers often spend three or four days covering the 500 miles between Djibouti and the capital owing to the permanent way being washed out by heavy rains.

The people still wear the old dress which seems to have been theirs since time immemorial. This consists of a cotton shirt, trousers, and the chama, the latter being a kind of cotton scarf worn like a toga during the day and used at night for a bed covering. The costume is the same for men and women and for all classes. The method of draping the chama is indicative of the attitude of the wearer towards the person in whose presence he may be. Thus to draw it across the face would imply contempt, whilst to drop it off the shoulders and gather it round the waist is the highest form of respect.

Impromptu courts of law, where any passer-by may be called upon to act as a judge, are still held at every street corner, and any trivial dispute is settled with much improvised oratory and an appalling waste of time. Rough-and-ready justice, according to the Mosaic code, holds the field for more serious crimes. Until recently it was quite a common sight to see half a dozen men swinging in the market place from improvised gallows or trees. Now murderers are executed in a little hut in the town, wherein they are tied to a post, rifles are trained on them through tubes in the wall, and the triggers are pulled by the relatives of the murdered man.

Very few Abyssinians outside the priesthood and the officials of Addis Ababa are able to read or write. The people as a whole are quite illiterate, and letters are not signed but sealed. The Emperor alone is entitled to place his seal at the top of his letters; everyone else's appears below the writing. It is a graceful script and a picturesque language; but, as there are 231 letters in the alphabet, besides about twenty compounds of these, Amharic is not exactly a subject that can be acquired in a week-end.

The possessions of France consist mainly of small islands in the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans, with continental territories in Africa, South America and Asia. 2117

Household Arts

These Cuddly Toys are Quickly Made

PATTERN 5255

Soft, cuddly animal toys are the favorites of nursery-age youngsters and wise is the mother who realizes how easily and cheaply such toys can be made. No need to buy new material for these; the left-over scraps of calico, chintz or other novelty cottons are adequate and so colorful. With only two simple pieces required for each toy, not counting the ears and elephant's blanket which are separate, the stitching and stuffing are completed in no time at all. Then watch the merriment when you bring out long-eared Peter Rabbit, the terrier that's smart as a whip, and the elephant "just like we saw at the circus!"

In pattern 5255 you will find a transfer pattern for the animals shown; directions for making them and material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 20 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermot Ave. E., Winnipeg.

SYNOPSIS

Nancy Nelson is a sub-deb, a gay, irresponsible girl of nineteen, with no care beyond the choice of her costume for her coming-out party. Suddenly, in the market crash, her indulgent father loses all he had, and his family is faced with the necessity of a simpler method of living. At this juncture a letter is received from an eccentric relative in Colorado, who offers the girl a home on what seems to be impossible conditions.

After much consideration Cousin Columbine's offer is accepted, and Nancy and Jack arrive at Pine Ridge.

Nancy set out one afternoon to climb to the top of a hill so as to obtain a view of the surrounding landscape and misses the path Aurora Tubbs had told her to follow. A truck comes along the road, driven by Matthew Adams, and she asks him which way to go. They ascend the hill, look around, and then go on to Cousin Columbine's. There Mark Adam tells Nancy that his brother Luke has broken his leg, and that Jack Nelson has been hired to help out while Luke's leg gets better. With Jack away, Nancy finds that she is lonesome, and having no books to read, the idea of starting a public library at Pine Ridge seems a good one, and Nancy writes home to get her parents to send all the books they could spare and all they could induce others to let them have.

Nancy and Matthew Adam go Christmas shopping in a neighboring town. On their return to Pine Ridge, Nancy is amazed to see the Columbine residence all lit up, and asks Matthew if he knows why. He said: Let's go in and see. Then Nancy learns that she is having her debut, but in a different setting than had been planned for her in Boston.

Nancy's parents and friends gave their liberal support to her request for books, and a sizeable box arrived in due course. Father Adam painted a sign for the library, and the Adam boys worked on the shelves for the books and decorations to make the room look presentable.

Jack Nelson, Matthew Adam, and Nancy go to the prairie home of Matthews' uncle for the ride, and after Nancy and Jack leave for home, they are caught in a blizzard.

Now Go On With The Story

CHAPTER XVII

The ride to Prairie Ranch had been a jolly one, and a new experience to the young Nelsons. "Uncle Tom and Aunt Emily" welcomed them warmly, and even suggested that they stay a day or two, so Mark would be able to accompany them home; but Jack demurred.

"With both Matt and Mark away, Mr. Adam needs me," he explained.

"and what's more, I think we'd better start right back if we're to go alone. Soon as Mark's better we'll be glad of the chance to come and get him; but really, I'd feel easier to go back to-day."

"He's right, Matthew," commended Uncle Tom. "It's not quite fair for me to steal two of your father's sons and his 'hired man' as well! And as Jack says, it's better for them to start soon and take their time. Run up and say a word to Mark, you two, while Aunt Em gets you a good lunch. You won't mind eating early after the long ride."

"I never saw my sister refuse food, early or late, ride or no ride," grinned Jack as they went upstairs.

They were away by noon, regretful not to stay longer with this hospitable family, but glad to think they would return so soon.

"These plains are such surprising things," said Nancy, when Prairie Ranch and its big cottonwoods were miles behind them. "From a distance they look flat as a huge billiard table. Who would believe that there are mesas and hills out here?"

"I like the prairies better from a distance," confessed her brother. "They're so desolate and lonely when you're on 'em, Sis. Makes you feel no bigger than a mosquito, and about as important! It's great to come out here and see them; but give me the mountains as a steady diet. I—"

The boy paused, brushing one hand against his cheek.

"Queer, but I'd swear a snowflake hit me! Why, there's another! Strange to see snow drift down this way while the sun's still shining."

"I've seen that happen several times this winter, but it never amounts to very much," Nancy peered curiously at the heavens. "Just see that cloud, Jack! How fast it's moving. I bet that's where your snowflake came from."

A worried wrinkle appeared between Jack's eyes.

"Maybe Cousin Columbine was right, and we're in for a storm."

Nancy laughed.

"Lost on the prairie in a blizzard on the twenty-sixth of March! It would be some story to tell the folks back home!"

Jack said, his eyes following the cloud: "Don't tempt Providence, Sis. That cloud is turning inky; and blizzards on these plains are something awful, they come so suddenly. Mr. Adam told me about a time—"

A gust of wind was on them before Jack finished speaking. Big balls of tumbleweed scurried across the prairie; and clouds of dust obliterated the road.

"Perhaps we'd better turn and go back," suggested Nancy, ducking her head against the particles of dust. "Cousin Columbine insisted we mustn't start in any sort of storm, you know, and—" (her voice rose in alarm) "and it's really snowing! It's beginning to snow hard!"

The boy leaned forward, scanning a sky that grew darker with incredible rapidity.

"How far back did we pass that schoolhouse?" His voice, Nancy noticed, was tense, unnatural. "I don't want to scare you, Sis, but this looks bad to me. If we could reach the school I'd take a chance at waiting there until the worst is over. What do you say?"

"I say we keep right on to the first ranch. That school was six or eight miles back; and when we passed I noticed particularly that the bus had left. Perhaps they closed at noon to-day."

A stinging flurry of snow was on them now, cutting across their faces like a whip. For a moment it took Jack's breath away; then he replied: "I guess you're right. There was a ranch somewhere along here. I remember seeing the gate and mail box. Help me into this jacket, will you? I don't want to stop the car. Gosh! Nancy, we're headed straight into the storm. That's it" (as she struggled to get his arm into a sleeve), "don't bother about the other. Get into your own coat quick — or wrap it round you. Look at this snow! The windshield's covered already. I'll have to get out and wipe it off."

"Are there any side curtains in this old car?" cried Nancy as they started on after a short delay.

Jack shook his head as he bent tensely above the wheel.

"Darned if I know; and you couldn't put 'em on in this wind anyway. Keep your eyes peeled for that mail box, Nance. We mustn't miss it. We—we can't miss it. Do you understand?"

Nance understood only too well. There followed a mile or so when neither spoke. Twice Jack got out to wipe the glass, while his sister, staring into the wind-swept space, fought terror. Snow was descending fast and furiously now. Indeed, as they kept on doggedly it seemed incredible that this was the same bare road they had traversed so short a time before with friendly sunlight dappling the plains on every side. It might, thought Nancy, have been snowing here for hours and hours. Could it be possible that they were off the road? Straining her eyes into the drifting white, watching in desperation for the wayside mail box, visions of frozen cattle rose up before her, and the girls heart thudded.

At last Jack said, not looking at his sister: "We've missed that ranch, Nance. It can't have been as far as this. What say we turn back now and try to reach the schoolhouse? The wind would be behind us anyway; and as it is I can't see four feet ahead. It looks to me as if our best chance was to—"

The words were silenced by a cry from Nancy, a cry of warning that came too late. Jack jammed on the brakes so suddenly that his sister was thrown forward against the windshield just as the car collided with the engine of a big school bus, which stood, its back wheels resting in a snow-filled gully as it extended crazily across the road.

CHAPTER XVIII

As Nancy righted herself again, her eyes met Jack's, a glance of stark despair passing between them. "I'm afraid that crash has finished this old car," he told her; then added: "Why, Nance, I think that bus is full of children!"

"Hi, there!" came a voice almost at his elbow. "Had a smash up, didn't you? Did you meet Clem?"

Jack turned to see a boy of perhaps eleven, standing amid the swirling snow.

"Skip back into that bus, kid," he shouted, "we're coming too."

He was already out, stretching a helping hand to Nancy, and together they fought their way to the door of the stalled bus, the youngster calling over his shoulder: "Watch where you go there! Don't step into that deep rut, Miss—you gotta jump it." Then as the door flew open to admit them and Nancy, exhausted, sank into the nearest seat, he continued with a captivating grin: "We got company, kids. These folks is changing cars at this station. Say" (turning to Jack), "did Clem Johnson send you after us?"

Jack shook his head, and glancing about the bus, inquired: "Is he your driver?"

"Just for to-day. Our regular driver's sick," explained the boy. "Came down with an awful pain when he was sweepin' out the bus this morning, and his wife got Clem to drive us. Teacher closed school early because there's some sort of convention in Denver to-morrow, and she wanted to take a train this afternoon. The storm came awful sudden, after we left; and when we got this far Clem said we'd better get back to Bartlett's ranch fast as we could. 'Tisn't more'n a few miles east of us; but when he tried to turn, the wheels went into that gully and somethin' broke. Clem worked for a long time and couldn't fix it."

"So he went for help?"

"That's it. He thought he'd get there easy; but the wind got somethin' fierce after he left. We told him not to go, but he said we'd freeze to death out here and 'twas up to him to get us somewhere safe. He's been gone a terrible long time though. Say, what's your name?"

"Jack Nelson; and this is my sister Nancy. What's yours?"

"Tom Osgood. I'm the oldest feller here; but two of the girls are older'n me. What do you s'pose became of Clem? He ought to be here."

At the front of the bus two children began to cry; and looking about at all those helpless youngsters, Nancy forgot herself. There must be fifteen of them; and two lovely little girls, obviously twins of seven or eight, wore only sweaters over summer dresses. How cold they must be!

"Look here," she said, rising to speak quietly, "these poor kiddies are getting frightened. We must divert them, Jack—play games of some sort—keep them moving as much as possible in this crowded place. Why, I'm cold already even with this coat, and not one of those children is dressed as warmly! Let's start romping soon as I put my sweater on one of those little girls."

This worked for a time, and the smallest children, not realizing their plight, laughed with delight at the games Nancy invented. The older ones, however, grew noticeably quiet as time passed, trying to peer out of the snow-covered windows, and speaking together in low voices.

At last Jack and Tom Osgood started some wrestling matches at the rear of the bus; while the older girls roused themselves in an effort to keep the others occupied. They danced, jumped up and down, and did gymnastics; but despite this exercise they were growing colder every minute, and when during some roughhouse, a small boy's elbow went through a pane of glass, a cry of dismay arose from one and all. 2117

It was then that Tom Osgood had an inspiration. Stored under the back seat and carried for just such emergencies, were canned food and a small, portable stove.

"I'll say we were pretty dumb not to think of 'em before," he observed disgustedly, "but we've never had a chance to use 'em, and I guess every one forgot." He had been rummaging about on his hands and knees, and now stood up, a bewildered expression on his manly little face. "Why they're not here! Not anywhere! We've always carried 'em, and extra blankets too. Say! I bet I know what happened. Joe took 'em out when he cleaned the bus this morning, and forgot to put 'em back when he had that pain. He always sets 'em in the harness closet out o' the dust; and maybe Clem s'posed they was right here, or p'raps he didn't know they'd ought to be here. Gee! I'm hungry, and some o' that canned soup would have tasted good."

There followed another fruitless search, the children watching with strained, unchildlike faces.

"Don't cry, kiddie," said Jack, as a small girl burst into frightened tears. "I'm going to make a stove out of this milk can. We'll soon be opening windows to cool off!"

Nance forced a smile at her brother's attempt at cheer, and lifting the crying child onto her lap, wrapped her coat about the small, cold legs. The bus was shaking with each gust of wind, and though every window was thick with frost, she knew the storm had increased in fury.

Little Helps For This Week

And when ye stand praying, forgive if ye have aught against any, that your Father which is in heaven may forgive you your trespasses. But if ye do not forgive, neither will your Father which is in heaven forgive your trespasses. Mark 11:25-26.

'Tis not enough to mourn your sins,
'Tis but one step to heaven;
When you are kind to others—
then
You know yourself forgiven.

There is nothing to do with your fellow men but to love them, to contemplate their virtues with admiration, their faults with pity and forbearance, and their injuries with forgiveness. To hate your adversary will not help you; nothing within the compass of the universe will help you, but to love him. How many a solitary place would be made glad if love were there, how many a dark dwelling would be full of light.

At an executive meeting of the Canadian Legion held on Saturday evening it was decided to give a supper, concert and dance on Monday, November 11th. Arrangements were also made for the ticket sale for the picture "Lest We Forget" which they are sponsoring at the Opera House next Wednesday and Thursday.

St. Cyprian's W.A. will hold an afternoon tea and sale of home-cooking at the home of Mrs. Booker Saturday, October 26. Members of the W.A. are asked to donate to the home-cooking stall.

AT OLDS: According to Manager Hansen five of last season's players will be on the Olds hockey team this next season. They are the two Gooders, Good, Spotswood and Roberts. Newcomers already lined up are, Polries, from the far north; Christensen, of Strathmore; Clark, of Calgary, and Ainsworth, of Edmonton. Ralph Maybank, who kept goal for the University team last year, and Alex Black, will also be available.
